

Increased funded status, newly legislated funding relief and contribution credit balances have created clearer skies and calmer waters for plan sponsors in regards to future contributions. This environment has provided plan sponsors the opportunity to accelerate de-risking with limited to no impact on plan contributions.

Join us as we explore recent trends in asset allocation, contribution impacts by hibernating at a lower funded status, and how this environment could change your current glidepath.

Title: Why Plans Should Consider Accelerating Their Glidepath
